the interpretive method represents a complex managerial mindset long due in the field of heritage preservation in central and eastern European countries.

If yes, then dumped goods around the high-quality and the distinction is only a matter of workmanship.